

Know Your Values

How to use this list:

Highlight the values that have meaning for you. What emotions are attached to this value?

Does this value define you and is it something you embody? Is this a value upon which I make decisions? (Think about important life decisions you've made and what value underpinned your choice.)

Divide your highlighted list into categories or topics. Ask again, does this define me? Do I make decisions that align with this value?

Pick one value from each category that is most important.

Finally, narrow the list to the three key values that embody who you are, how you live and how you make decisions.
